A New York Tradition
The New York Cares Coat Drive is one of the most well-known and visible holiday traditions in New York City, right there alongside the Macy’s Thanksgiving Day Parade and the lighting of the tree in Rockefeller Center. Over the past 26 years, The Coat Drive, with its iconic shivering Statue of Liberty imagery, has become a brand of its own within the hearts and minds of New Yorkers, a symbol of both intense need and the unlimited capacity to give.

And give they have. Since the inaugural Coat Drive in 1989, New Yorkers have donated more than 1.6 million coats, which New York Cares has put in the hands of those who need them most. During this year’s drive, from November 17th through December 31st, 2014, residents donated more than 75,000 coats, keeping tens of thousands of their neighbors warm through the frigid winter months.

Year-Round Giving Through New York Cares
The Coat Drive is only one of the many ways that caring New Yorkers can give back to their beloved city through New York Cares. Throughout the year, New York Cares recruits, manages, and sends out thousands of teams of volunteers to over 1,300 schools, social service agencies, and other nonprofits. These volunteers deliver a wide range of mission-critical services to our Community Partners, which fall into three issue areas:

- children’s and adult education
- urgent needs (food, clothing, shelter)
- revitalization

Last year, 62,000 New Yorkers volunteered through New York Cares, helping high school students prepare for the SAT, assisting low-income residents with tax returns, cleaning up parks and public spaces, and so much more. With 1,600 impactful volunteer projects managed by New York Cares every month, there is no limit to the ways civic-minded individuals can improve their city and the lives of those living at the lowest income levels.

So Much More Than a Coat

The Coat Drive secures our domestic violence clients with the ability to remain healthy during the cold winter season, as the majority of our clients come to the shelter with only the clothes on their backs.

Stephanie Murphy, NYC Human Resources Administration
Collecting Coats in the 21st Century

The Coat Drive is a New York City tradition, providing warmth for New Yorkers in need for the past 26 years. But nothing about its operations could be considered traditional. How people communicate, shop, and donate to charity has changed dramatically since The Coat Drive first began, and New York Cares has responded by improving mobile technology, managing rising transportation costs, and enabling donations to be made directly from the home or workplace.

Locations Near You

New York is a fast-moving city, and to keep up with the quick pace, New York Cares set up a mobile-friendly app which let cell phone users anywhere in the city find the closest coat drop-off site.

The Coat Drive is focused on keeping New Yorkers warm, but that doesn’t mean people from across the country can’t help. This year, national retailer, Delia’s, made sure that the entire nation had an opportunity to give coats, collecting at all 92 stores.

Door-to-Door Donations

The holiday season can be the busiest time of year and finding time to drop off a coat can be difficult. New York Cares partnered with Shyp and UberRUSH, allowing donors to quickly send coats to our warehouse without leaving home, and with FlyCleaners, which picked up donated coats along with laundry.

Getting Coats to Those Who Need Them

Moving 75,000 coats from 300 donation locations citywide to the warehouse is a big undertaking. In 2014, we partnered with FlatRate Moving and Zipcar, generous companies that transported thousands of coats free of charge.
In 2014, New Yorkers donated more than 75,000 coats by dropping them off at one of 300 public collection sites or forming collection teams with co-workers, alumni groups, churches, and more. New York Cares volunteers then sorted and distributed the coats to hundreds of nonprofit partners and their clients in need, ensuring that each individual received a warm, comfortable coat.

A Gift of Warmth

Last night, we distributed 150 coats on one of the coldest nights of the year. Our volunteer staff helped guests select a proper-sized coat, directed them to a mirror, and had each one feel as if the assortment from New York Cares was there for their personal selection. No one left without something to keep them warm. To see smiles and hear wonderful comments made the evening very special for us.

The gift from New York Cares will keep many men and women warm today. For that we are very grateful. New York can be a kind place, if we all work together to help those in need.

In 2014, the unforgettable “Shivering Statue of Liberty” campaign — created by J. Walter Thompson in 1991 — took the spot it has occupied for 26 years among the most visible holiday images in New York City. This success is thanks to the ongoing support of key media partners and their generous pro bono contributions to this truly multimedia effort.

More Thank-You’s

Bloomberg
Demonstrating its commitment to keeping New Yorkers warm this winter, Bloomberg LP collected 600 coats and purchased an additional 1,200 new coats for individuals at The Bowery Mission, The River Fund, and many other agencies. The company also highlighted our radio and television ads in its internal communications.

Vornado Realty Trust
Without our Coat Drive warehouse, the Coat Drive literally would not happen. Vornado Realty Trust provides this centrally located, 4,500-square-foot space at no cost and even instructs its building management staff on how to best help New York Cares with our frequent deliveries. We are truly indebted.

BARCLAYS
Recognizing the urgent need for coats in New York City, Barclays played a major role in the success of the 2014 Coat Drive. The company contributed to the drive financially, displayed Coat Drive marketing messages at the Barclays Center and in front of its New York headquarters near Times Square, and donated television media during Brooklyn Nets Games through December. This wonderful partnership demonstrated Barclays’ commitment to improving our community.

This year, New York Cares received requests for more than 100,000 coats from New Yorkers in need. Retailer H&M stepped in and donated 4,000 new children’s winter coats to help New York Cares fulfill these requests, making it the single largest one-time donation during the 2014 Coat Drive.

Our Sponsors
To collect and distribute more than 75,000 coats over the course of just seven weeks, New York Cares relies heavily on the generosity of a very special group of sponsors for their financial and in-kind support. We are incredibly grateful to the following for their contributions:
